THE JOSEPH BRODMANN GROUP

Brodmann's world headquarters is still located in Vienna, Austria. The city, with its musical history as well as the heritage of Joseph Brodmann and his pupil Ignaz Bösendorfer, continue to influence the way Brodmann pianos are built to this day.

The Joseph Brodmann Group is a world wide company with corporate locations in Vienna, London, Hong Kong and the USA. Brodmann has appointed select dealers and technicians worldwide to provide the ultimate in service and assistance to our customers. Under the leadership of Christian Höferl, a former long time Director of Bösendorfer and Colin Taylor, a former Sales Manager at Bösendorfer and a concert technician, the Brodmann company is comprised of a highly experienced team whose aims are to produce the highest quality pianos.

SOUND PHILOSOPHY

The name of Joseph Brodmann, the famous Viennese piano maker stands for more than just a product name. The sound philosophy of Joseph Brodmann Pianos is based on the Viennese, European sound tradition. More and more people these days are turning away from the bright harsh sounding pianos which have become the standard tonal sound of pianos produced for the last 25 years.

The secret of the Brodmann piano lies in the fact that they are a European designed piano, using the best possible quality parts in the key areas of sound production. The inclusion of these quality parts makes all the difference to the Brodmann piano sound, a distinctive full and rounded European tone, giving a much sweeter, singing sustaining tone than that of our competitors. In addition, Brodmann also works together with renowned piano performers, composers and artists to ensure the finest tonal range and sound quality for all our instruments.

QUALITY STANDARDS

Our highly experienced technical team is using only the finest quality raw materials to ensure world class quality, playability and durability. Brodmann pianos must pass stringent quality control checks at all stages of production to ensure that the final product is of the highest quality. Master technicians and piano builders from Austria oversee all production and final quality control. We are happy to have secured the expertise of former Bösendorfer production managers and master technicians, to ensure not only today's quality control, but also future research and development projects.
